Katlyn Danwall, President of the Archbishop Hannan High School's Science Nation Honor Society team and Kay Richards, Vice-President, presented the conclusions from their study on coastal erosion in Lake Pontchartrain. Their research involved the investigation of the depletion of the protective sand berm system along the northern shoreline of Lake Pontchartrain which was performed by taking samples starting at Bayou Liberty near Slidell and ending at the mouth of Tchefuncte River in Madisonville. The goal: find out "Why" it was happening and "What" they can do to help correct erosion loss on the northwest coastline of the Lake! The results of their study have shown that the western area of the parish is eroding and should be included in the CPRA Masterplan. Commissioner Kreiger asked that they submit their study to the Board. Commissioner McGovern moved to include the study by the Archbishop Hannan High School Science National Honor Society in the Board's official study, seconded by Commissioner Faust. With no objection the motion carried unanimously. Questions were then asked by the audience regarding future studies, President Danwall responded the group will continue to study the coastal issues of our area and pursue funding sources for those studies. Commissioner Hunter suggested a potential funding source and will provide that information to Mr. Steve Shepard, faculty advisor.*
